Preface – Inescapable Hazard

“the recognition of uncertainty and Hazard in the working of universal laws restore significance to our own human strivings. If man is not a pawn in the hands of an omnipotent and omniscience chess-player, then he may be something much more significant; to wit, a being upon whom rests real responsibility to taking his own part in the universal task. Conscious experience faced with hazard is a state of need, and need confronted with uncertainty as to its fulfilment is dramatic.

Therefore, we may speak of a dramatic universe, thereby drawing attention to the character which all existence acquires through the presence everywhere of relativity and uncertainty, combined with consciousness and with the possibility of freedom. Where there is no drama – no suspense – there is no deep significance. It is artificial and inconsistent to suppose that there can be a drama of uncertainty and suspense in the life of man but none in the great universe. In order to appreciate the full significance of the force latent in the idea of a dramatic universe, consciousness must be restored to the efficient status from which it was banished by the atomists and by their modern descendants the logical positivists; for, confronted by efficient consciousness, uncertainty is no longer blind chance. We may see here the dawning of a new light upon cosmological problems which will disclose to us a supreme uncertainty in the ordering of the universe.”

J.G.Bennett

5-fold Cosmos as the Core of a Cosmic Ecology

How cosmoses correlate and intertwine with each other

The Scheme of Cosmoses

- 12 levels of being
- 12 corresponding qualities of energy
- 3-fold transformation
- 5-fold cosmic ecology
- 8 cosmoses make up the whole

The Choice Before Us – which club will we join?

Unregenerate Humanity

- False belief in human superiority in the Universe
- Dominion over nature
- Dissociated from nature and ‘the universe’
- Reductionist science or dogmatic religion as the only explanations
- Growth as the absolute norm on a ‘flat earth’

LIMITLESS GROWTH AS THE PATHOLOGICAL NORM

Evolving Humanity

- Humanity has barely started conscious evolution
- Stewardship of nature
- Participation in nature as a reflection of the Universe
- Conscious science with additional ways of knowing
- Transformation as a relative norm on a ‘spherical earth’

TRANSFORMATIONS AS THE EVOLUTIONARY NORM

Discussion Interlude 2

Compare and contrast the two conditions of humanity. What might we learn from this?
